The Park House Cedars were well placed in the landscape in scale with their environment and space to mature. Deodara Cedar to the left of the group is upright in form compared with the spreading nature of Cedar of Lebanon.

Deodar Cedar was traditionally used in India for boat building. Introduced to Britain in 1831, the plan to use it for the same purpose failed as the growing condition produced a timber which lacked durability.