Hupeh Crab

Malus hupehensis

This extremely useful Crab Apple was considered by its collector, Ernest Wilson, to be the finest flowering tree that he collected. Large white flowers are followed by marble like fruit that will remain on the tree as long as the birds will allow. Genetically triploid, the tree comes true from seed and is easy to grow.