21.3 PROVISIONS IN THE EVENT THAT ASSESSMENT MARKS ARE NOT AVAILABLE AS A CONSEQUENCE OF MAJOR DISRUPTION

- 21.3.1 In circumstances in which the University's academic provision has been significantly disrupted by matters outwith the University's control, the Senate [or body acting on behalf of the Senate] may activate the provisions specified in this sub-section of the Assessment Handbook. Matters outwith the University's control include but are not limited to strikes and industrial action, staff illness, severe weather, natural disaster, epidemic or pandemic, fire, war, civil disorder or unrest, riot, terrorist attack or the threat of it, and restrictions imposed by the government or public authorities.
- 21.3.2 The provisions apply only to those candidates for whom assessment marks are not available as a consequence of matters outwith the University's control, as specified in 21.3.1 above. The University Progression Board or University Awarding Board, as appropriate, is responsible for satisfying itself that marks are not available wholly or partly as a result of matters outwith the University's control, and, on this basis, determine in respect of each candidate whether these provisions or the standard provisions for the award should apply.
- 21.3.3 Calculation of marks
- In the event that marks are available for some, but not all, components of the assessment for a module, the School responsible for the module shall, where it is reasonably possible, derive a mark for the module from those components for which a mark is available.
- 21.3.4 Eligibility for Diploma of Higher Education
- 21.3.4.1 Where the module marks for a candidate are not available as a result of matters outwith the University's control, determination of eligibility for the Diploma of Higher Education shall be deferred until the point at which the candidate leaves the University or the point at which the University is confident that all marks which are likely to become available have been submitted, whichever is earlier. Candidates who indicate an intention to leave the University will be advised of their eligibility for an award, but their eligibility shall be reviewed if further marks become available prior to their withdrawal from the University.
- 21.3.4.2 Provided that the candidate has at least 80 credits with marks in each Part, the award of the Diploma of Higher Education shall be awarded on the basis of the following variants to the Part 2 Threshold Performance requirements:

Variant on Part 2 Threshold in cases where marks are not available

Examinations and Assessment Handbook: Section 20

- Achieve an overall average of 40% over those credits taken in Part 2 for which marks are available, provided that the credits amount to at least 80 credits
- Achieve a mark of at least 40% in 80 credits taken at Part 2 and no mark below 30% (except that a mark below 30 may be condoned in no more than 20 credits of modules owned by the Department of Mathematics and Statistics).

21.3.4.3 In the case of candidates who have less than 80 credits with marks in either Part, the University Awarding Board is required to consider each case on its merits and submit a recommendation to the Senate with a brief indication of the principles which have informed the decision. The University Awarding Board, in considering such cases, shall take due account of a range of evidence, which may include performance during the programme.

21.3.4.4 In the event that, following the failure of a student to achieve a Diploma of Higher Education under these provisions, further marks contributing to a student's result become available, the relevant University Awarding Board shall reconsider the candidate at a subsequent meeting to determine their eligibility for an award. For the avoidance of doubt, reconsideration of a candidate's marks shall not lead to a lower result than the result originally agreed.
