

Guidelines on programme handbooks and programme handbook template

Introduction

1. These guidelines and the associated Programme Handbook Template relate to the undergraduate and taught postgraduate programmes and programme structures being delivered in the Session 2021/22.

The aim of programme handbooks

2. Programme handbooks are intended to provide specific information on the relevant School and how it supports its degree programmes. The aims of programme handbooks include acting as a guide to the programme, providing students with advice on how to get the best out of their studies and providing information about the programme structure and content. More general information about the University and key academic policies and procedures can be found in the Essentials student webpages and 'The Important Stuff' webpage on Essentials. It is the responsibility of students to familiarise themselves with their programme handbook and Essentials, and to use them as a reference when required.
3. Programme handbooks are intended to complement the formal description of the key components of programmes provided in the relevant Programme Specifications and Further Programme Information (which contains non-contractual information previously included in the Programme Specification). Neither the Programme Handbook nor the Further Programme Information forms part of a student's Terms and Conditions with the University.

Production and publication of programme handbooks

4. All programme handbooks should be produced to a common format; handbooks will be produced by each School in respect of the programmes for which it is responsible.
5. The responsibility for combined honours programmes lies with the relevant Board of Studies and Student Experience. Schools may wish to produce a single handbook for such a programme or they may cover the programme in two handbooks relating to the two appropriate subject areas. However, in the latter circumstance, students must receive programme handbooks for both subjects, and both handbooks must include a link to the programme specification website. Please include in the handbook(s) the name of the responsible co-ordinator or co-ordinators.

6. Programme handbooks should be revised each year and published online or in hard copy. When publishing online-only, Schools should bear in mind accessibility issues; for example, in relation to students with disabilities.
7. Schools should maintain an accurate archive of programme handbooks for each cohort of students for seven years post-graduation.

The programme handbook template

8. The University Board for Teaching, Learning and Student Experience recommends that undergraduate and taught postgraduate programme handbooks should contain the elements outlined in the Programme Handbook Template. Within the common framework, considerable flexibility is possible, to allow for the differing needs of particular subject areas and Schools.
9. Schools should provide additional text or edit, as appropriate, the following sections of the programme handbook template: (A) "Introduction and welcome"; (D) "How do I get started?"; (E) "What is my programme?"; (F) "Support for you and your studies" and (J) "And Finally . . .".

Scope for variation

10. Schools may issue undergraduate programme handbooks at Part 1 that encompass all parts of the degree programme. Some Schools may wish to issue a separate handbook for each Part of the degree programme in order to retain maximum flexibility within the structure of the programme. Schools may therefore opt for:
 - a separate handbook for each Part of the degree programme; or
 - one handbook for Part 1, and another for Parts 2 and 3; or
 - one handbook covering the entire programme.
11. In respect of taught postgraduate programmes, Schools may opt either for:
 - a separate handbook for each taught postgraduate programme they deliver; or
 - a joint handbook which covers a suite of cognate programmes.
12. In addition, some Schools produce a School Handbook comprising all School-related information, including programme information, which is updated annually. A general School Handbook comprising School-based information, with separate programme handbooks updated annually, is also acceptable practice.
13. The important thing is that all relevant information is communicated to students in the most appropriate way. If a handbook covers more than one Part of the programme, annual supplements should be provided to update staff lists, key dates etc. where necessary.

[The University Board for Teaching, Learning and Student Experience recommends that undergraduate and taught postgraduate programme handbooks should contain the elements outlined in this document. ALL sections should normally appear in every handbook. Text which appears in [red] indicates text which needs to be edited/provided by Schools/Depts or where underneath a section, headings have been provided as guidance for staff. Titles/Headings which have an asterisk may not be required for all programmes. Text which is highlighted in yellow indicates where content has been added or amended from the previous version of the Programme Handbook Template. Text which is highlighted in pink indicates links which have been amended since the Programme Handbook Template was published in June 2021.]

Version/Date

[The inclusion of a statement of which year/cohort this account of the programme applies to is mandatory.]

Alternative formats

[To be included in programme handbooks. The Disability Advisory Service can provide advice to Schools about accessible formats where requested.]

The material in this handbook can be provided in alternative media. Please discuss your requirements with XXX (Tel: XXX or email xxx@reading.ac.uk).

Disclaimer

[It is essential that the standard disclaimer is used, and reproduced in full, at the beginning (preferably on the inside front cover). The standard paragraph provided below is a guide for the convenience of students and staff.]

The University's Ordinances and Regulations are available in the Governance zone on the website, and programme information can be found in the relevant Programme Specification and module descriptions. Should there be, or appear to be, any conflict between statements in this handbook and the Ordinances, Regulations, Programme Specifications or module descriptions, the latter documents shall prevail.

A Introduction and welcome

Welcome

[Schools should include a Welcome message here from, for example, the Head of School/Dept. This should include, if appropriate, information on how the programme has been developed due to a Curriculum Framework review along with the attributes/skills students will leave the University of Reading with.]

Your Programme Handbook

The aim of this Programme Handbook is to provide you with specific information on the School of XXX and how it supports your degree programme as well as other sources of important information.

More general information about the University and key academic policies and procedures can be found in 'The important stuff' Essentials student webpages, further details of which are provided later in this handbook. You can also find the latest information about what to expect from the student experience at the moment, and advice and support in relation to COVID-19, on Essentials.

 Essentials homepage

 Essentials - 'The important stuff' webpage

 Essentials – Covid-19 – Latest information for students

It is your responsibility to familiarise yourself with the Programme Handbook and with the content of Essentials, and to use them as a reference when required.

Finding your way around

[Along with the web link to the relevant campus map/s (delete as needed), a description of the lay-out of the School, with particular mention of any student resource/common room(s) and an explanation of the room numbering system, should be provided. If the layout is complicated, a plan appropriately customised may be helpful. Information about access for disabled students should be included.]

The University has agreed that email is the default mode of communication between staff and students. Each School, however, may also decide to use additional forms of communication. Information on the location of any pigeon-holes for staff and students and any notice boards may be included here.]

 Map of the Whiteknights Campus

 Map of the London Road Campus

 Map of the Henley Business School \(Greenlands\) Campus

Information about finding your way around the digital environment, including Essentials, can be found in Section D - How do I get started? below.

Members of staff

[A list of key members of staff, a brief explanation of their role where not already provided, and contact details must be included here. This might include, but is not limited to, those staff members listed below. You may also wish to provide a link to your School/Dept staffing web page.]

Head of School/Department - Name

The Head of School is responsible for the academic leadership, resource and operational management of the School as well as representing the School and University with external bodies.

School Director of Teaching & Learning/Departmental Director of Teaching & Learning - Name

The Director of Teaching & Learning is responsible for providing leadership in teaching, learning, assessment and feedback in relation to the School's taught programmes.

School Director of Academic Tutoring/Department Director of Academic Tutoring - Name

School Directors of Academic Tutoring (SDATs) provide School-level leadership for student academic, personal and professional development.

Placement Co-ordinator - Name

If you are planning to undertake a Professional Placement Year, or a shorter credit-bearing placement, your Placement Co-ordinator is here to help you every step of the way.

Disability Representatives – Names include a brief explanation of these roles. Detailed role descriptions for Administrative and Academic Disability Representatives can be found on the [Disability Information for Staff webpages.]

Disability Representatives are responsible for providing good working conditions for students and ensuring they receive the appropriate support and adjustments, liaising with the Disability Advisory Team and Module Convenors.

Support Co-ordinators [text must appear as shown – do not include an individual's name]

Your Student Support Co-ordinators are the people you see when you visit your Support Centre. They can help you with anything from a query about Campus Cards, advice on changing programme or on module selection, submitting exceptional circumstances forms, to any other general or programme-specific question.

Ask a Question via the RISIS portal is the main method for contacting your Student Support Co-ordinators. You can find details of where to find your Student Support Co-ordinators and their telephone numbers on Essentials.

 Student Support Co-ordinators

Careers learning, placements and student development

Schools should provide detailed information about placement opportunities available as well as specialised careers learning opportunities and how the School fosters student development. Your [Careers Consultant can provide assistance and current information.]

Career prospects

Schools should provide information here about career prospects for their graduates. Rather than focussing on DLHE/Graduate Outcomes data, Schools should aim to provide students with a broad flavour of the types of jobs graduates enter into. It is recognised that this section will be easier to write for vocationally-oriented subjects, and that the information given for many non-vocational subjects is likely to be very similar. Your [Careers Consultant can provide assistance and current information.]

 Careers

School societies/activities

[Information on any School/Student Societies should be provided here, along with information on any student/staff initiatives such as lunchtime seminar programmes etc.]

B Reading Student Charter

Partners in Learning

Staff and students have worked together to develop this charter that clearly sets out what we all expect of each other. It recognises the importance of an effective partnership commitment, in which the University and its staff have professional obligations but where students are also responsible for themselves as learners and as individuals.

Students expect the University

- to provide an excellent and varied learning experience;
- to deliver degrees with relevant content informed by the latest research;
- to provide access to learning resources and facilities that allow you to excel;
- to offer opportunities to gain knowledge and skills useful for life beyond University;
- to support students' professional development and access to career information, advice and guidance;
- to provide a broad range of social, cultural, sporting and co-curricular activities;
- to facilitate opportunities to express views which are considered and responded to.

Students expect staff

- to teach in an engaging and varied manner that inspires learning;
- to give timely and constructive feedback on work;
- to provide effective pastoral and learning support when needed;
- to respond, communicate and consult in a timely and effective manner;
- to recognize the student body to be a diverse collection of adults who are partners with an equally important voice in their learning.

The University expects students

- to work hard at their studies and to be active partners in shaping their experience of HE;
- to seek out opportunities to enhance their understanding and to develop practical and intellectual skills;
- to take advantage of the wealth of activities (social and developmental) provided by the University and the Students' Union;
- to be aware that their conduct affects other students and reflects on the University, and to act accordingly;

- to provide constructive feedback on their time at Reading through the Students' Union and directly to the University.

Staff expect students

- to be pro-active in managing their learning and in seeking help when needed;
- to be enquiring in their thinking;
- to manage their time to fulfil academic and other commitments;
- to engage fully with all academic commitments;
- to conduct themselves and to engage in their studies with honesty;
- to keep appointments and to communicate with staff in a timely and courteous manner;
- to take ownership of their own health and well-being.

We all expect each other

- to treat one another with respect, tolerance and courtesy, regardless of identity, background or belief, both in person and online;
- to show responsible stewardship of the university environment, facilities and resources;
- to challenge one another intellectually and to contribute to the advancement of knowledge;
- to work fairly and effectively with one another both inside and outside the academic context;
- to be accountable for our actions and conduct;
- to recognize and value positive contributions from others.

C Partnership

The foundation of our University community

The following principles underpin the approach that students and staff take to working in partnership at Reading.

Partnership:

- Is based on values of trust and respect
- Is empowering and inclusive
- Enables the collaborative development of meaningful change
- Creates a sense of belonging to our University community.

You can find out more about the Principles of Partnership, including further resources to support student-staff partnerships and collaborative working, on the Student-Staff Partnerships webpage.

D How do I get started?

Term Dates

The term dates for the current academic year and the following one can be found by using the web link below:

 Term Dates

[It may be helpful to include here key dates for field trips or other School/Dept activities]

Enrolment and your Campus Card

Every academic year you are required to enrol with the University, whether you are starting a new programme or continuing on a programme that you were on last year.

New Students/Starting a new programme of study

You will need to enrol for your programme online before you can be fully registered. We currently have two enrolment statuses:

- 'On-campus' – for students attending face-to-face sessions on campus;
- 'At a distance' – for students who are unable to study on campus due to COVID-19 travel restrictions or specific medical advice and therefore need to study remotely.

When you are enrolling you will need to request to enrol 'at a distance' and tell us the reasons why you cannot attend in person. You can change your status at a later date.

Details of the steps you need to follow can be found here or in your Welcome Guide.

For those studying 'on campus', your enrolment will be complete once you have arrived on campus and collected your Campus Card, which will be yours for the duration of your programme. For those studying 'at a distance', we will notify you once your enrolment is complete. You will be able to collect your Campus Card when you join us on campus.

Once you are enrolled, you will be able to retrieve your University log in details which will give you access to your University of Reading email, timetable, Blackboard, MS Teams, Me@Reading and RISIS Portal.

Your Campus Card allows you access to:

- i. the University Library
- ii. 24-hour IT/computer facilities
- iii. study lounges
- iv. some buildings and rooms where access facilities have been installed (which may include your Hall of Residence)

Topping up your Campus Card account with money enables you to:

- i. pay for printing
- ii. pay Library fines
- iii. pay for food, drink and services at tills using the Campus Card Portal

- iv. benefit from special discounts and offers exclusive to those paying using the Campus Card

More information on using your Campus Card can be found using the link below:

 Information on Campus Card

Returning Students

It is important that as a returning student you also complete re-enrolment each year. Details on how to do this can be found using the link below:

 Information on Enrolment

Term time addresses and phone numbers

You must keep your RISIS student record updated, including providing a term-time address and (where possible) a mobile phone number. It is very important that we have these details so we can keep you updated throughout the year and contact you in case of an emergency.

 University of Reading RISIS portal login page

Email and other forms of communication

Your University email address is the main form of communication between staff and students and you should use this whenever you need to contact anyone at the University, except where otherwise advised.

We will:

- Ensure that your University of Reading email account will be available to you for the entire duration of your studies.
- Provide suitable, supported email software for the entire duration of your studies.
- Ensure our email service meets standards of availability, reliability, performance and security, as determined by us and under our own control.

Please note that email sent from non-University mail accounts may be classified as SPAM and hence not read.

We also have a range of online communications channels:

- Module and School specific information is placed on Blackboard Learn, including regular announcements and notifications;

 Blackboard Learn portal login page

- You can find your personal information and the 'Ask a Question' feature to communicate with your Support Centre on the RISIS web portal;

 University of Reading RISIS portal login page

- And via Essentials.

 Essentials homepage.

It is important that all communications between you and the University are conducted in line with the following statement:

You will use your University email account or the relevant University virtual learning environment for all communications with the University. You understand that the University will use your University email account to formally communicate with you following registration (unless the University agrees otherwise). As such it is the University's expectation that you will check your University email account daily and you agree to do so at least once a week.

UoR Student App

The official UoR Student App makes accessing all the essential information you need for student life at Reading as easy as possible. The app is available for all current students to download for free on android and iOS devices. It offers:

- your academic timetable
- a personalised Me@Reading news feed
- instant notifications
- easy access to support information and maps.

Simply download the app and log in using your University username and password. Remember to turn on notifications!

Me@Reading student portal

Me@Reading Student is your personalised news portal. Login to find out what's happening and to read the latest news and events for you.

How do I access Me@Reading?

Once you've picked up your Campus Card and retrieved your University username and password from RISIS, you're ready to go. Access Me@Reading Student.

Me@Reading is updated every day, so bookmark it and check it as much as possible to keep up to date with university life.

Module selection

If you are an undergraduate or postgraduate taught student and your programme offers optional modules, you will be required to select these online each year.

This process is called module selection and takes place in September for new students and for students on Foundation programmes moving into Part 1, and in April for students moving into Parts 2, 3 and 4.

Further information can be found on Essentials:

 Information on Module Selection

Your teaching and learning plan

Your teaching and learning plan for 2021/22 can be accessed via Blackboard.

 Information on accessing Blackboard

Your timetable shows live, scheduled classes that you need to attend as part of your programme. These sessions may be a mixture of live on campus and live online.

Information on how to access your timetable, along with help & support, can be found on Essentials.

 Information on your timetable - Essentials website

In addition to the timetable, a Module Roadmap containing a module overview will be made available on your Blackboard course. Also via your Blackboard course, you will be provided with a Weekly Plan containing an outline of the learning and activities that you need to complete each week. Additional activities will be advertised by your School and University services to complement your learning. Information on how to sign up and attend these events will be provided within the advertisement.

*Blackboard/Canvas (edit title as needed)

[*Blackboard/Canvas] is our online Virtual Learning Environment (VLE) and is the main hub for all of your online learning. You will use it to meet, study and engage with your lecturers and other students. This will include roadmaps and plans that explain how your modules are being delivered, announcements, live online sessions, digital learning materials, discussion forums and self-paced learning activities. You will also use it to submit your assignments electronically and receive your marks and feedback.

Further information can be found using the link below:

 Information on Blackboard

Programme teams and module convenors can refer to [Designing your Blackboard Module that describes how to design, structure and manage Blackboard modules.]

Reading lists

[Schools should refer students to module reading lists which should be made available via Blackboard.]

Lists are created through the online Reading Lists system (using Talis Aspire software). Information for module convenors on reading lists, including guidance on creating effective reading lists, can be found in Online reading lists: a guide for academic staff. More information on how the Library can support the provision of materials for teaching is available on our online guide to teaching support or by contacting your Academic Liaison Librarian.

Overseas campuses/partner institutions

Please note that currently the online Reading Lists system should only be used for modules delivered within the UK (i.e. at Whiteknights or London Road), as the University Library availability information linked to each print item and our e-resource licensing restrictions preclude the use of this software for modules taught at our overseas partnership institutions/campuses.]

Reading lists should be available via your Blackboard courses or by conducting a web search using Talis along with the required module code.

For more information on using your online reading list, please visit:

 Online reading lists: a guide for students

E What is my programme?

[Schools should edit the sentences/sections in red text as required/appropriate to the teaching delivery]

Your full time [undergraduate/postgraduate] programme is made up of [120/180] credits taken at each Part (eg. Part 1, Part 2 etc)]. See your Programme Specification for more information.

Your programme is made up of [e.g. a combination of compulsory and optional] modules. The module descriptions will give you details on how your modules will be taught and assessed.

Most of the teaching for your Programme will take place in the [e.g. autumn and spring terms].

An optional or compulsory placement may make up part of your studies.

Guest Attendance

You may be able to attend lectures for additional modules on a guest basis, without completing the assessment/examination. Any such attendance would not contribute/count towards your final mark/progression/classification and would require permission from the relevant module convenor.

If you're interested in guest attendance, you should first discuss it with your Academic Tutor, who will help you consider the impact it may have on your main programme of study and your overall workload. Guest attendance at lectures will not appear on your timetable – you will be responsible for finding out the timetabling requirements and regularly checking Blackboard posts for any scheduling changes. It is important to note that guest attendance does not enable you to enrol formally on the relevant module after the normal deadline, nor is it acceptable grounds for exceptional circumstance requests.

Further information can be found in the Policy statement on non-contributory modules and guest attendance.

Students studying part-time

[Where Schools or subject areas give their handbooks to students studying on a part-time basis, they should include a section addressing their situation and highlighting any differences in the organisation and structure of their programme to the full-time equivalent (e.g. progression rules).]

Programme Specification

You can find details of the requirements and structure of your degree/course from the Programme Specification. This can be found using the link below. If you are unsure which year to select, please check with your Support Centre/the Henley Helpdesk.

Programme Specifications

You can access your Further Programme Information (FPI) by logging onto the RISIS portal,

- (i) Selecting the information tab
- (ii) Selecting programme and modules from the drop-down list.

From here you will then be able to access the FPI by clicking on the Further Programme Information for 2021/22 link.

Assessment

[This section must be edited to reflect the assessment method/s used.]

Assessment may be by examination. Most examinations are held in the summer term, further information can be found in Section G and examination dates can be found using the link below:

Examination dates

*Professional bodies

[It may be appropriate to include a brief account of any relevant professional bodies, especially where the programme leads to professional membership, together with an explanation of how graduates qualify for membership of the organisation concerned.]

*Professional requirements

*Accreditation requirements

[Schools should include information on any specific accreditation requirements.]

*Fitness to Practise

Schools are responsible for notifying students if they are on a programme which is subject to practice requirements; refer to [Policy on and procedures for the determination of 'fitness to practise' for further guidance.]

The concept of 'fitness to practise' applies to those students undertaking programmes which lead to a professional qualification in one of the health or social professions. Under the terms of the accreditation of such programmes by the professional, statutory or regulatory bodies, the University has a responsibility to assess the fitness to practise of students and their suitability for a demanding and responsible profession, and to take appropriate action in respect of that assessment. Further guidance can be found on the Centre for Quality Support and Development website:

Policy on and procedures for the determination of 'fitness to practise'

*Disclosure and Barring Service (DBS)

Schools are responsible for notifying students if they are on a programme which is subject to DBS clearance; refer to [Policy on and procedures for the determination of 'fitness to practise' for further guidance.]

Policy on and procedures for the determination of 'fitness to practise'

*Safety

[Information about safety procedures and the specific responsibilities of students. Attention should be drawn to the Health and Safety at Work Act, if appropriate.]

You can find the latest guidance on safety measures in response to COVID-19 on Essentials.

Additional costs of studying

During your time studying at Reading, you may encounter some additional costs, for example field trips, text books, or stationery. These costs will be made clear on your programme specification and relevant module descriptions.

It is prudent to budget appropriately for these costs, and the Advice Service in the Students' Union can help you either by email or in person with this. You can also visit the website below for more generic information. More specific information can be given by your Department or School.

F Support for you and your studies

Inclusivity

The University is committed to inclusivity, which includes ensuring our teaching and learning practices are accessible to all, as set out in the Curriculum Framework. Our Policy on Inclusive Practice in Teaching & Learning provides greater clarity and emphasis to our commitment to an inclusive approach. Find out more on Essentials - Accessible teaching and learning materials.

Where to go for help with my studies?

Learning support and guidance is provided by a wide array of services across the University, including: Academic Tutors, the University Library, the Careers Centre, the Academic English Programme, Study Advice, the Mathematics Support Centre and Digital Technology Services. There are language laboratory facilities both for those students studying on a language degree and for those taking modules offered by the Institution-wide Language Programme.

School/Department specific information

- [1. Include information on any provision provided by the School (e.g. ASK Advisors)
- [2. Include where to find information about any School/Dept/Programme specific conventions to be used by students for references and citations (or any other style guides etc), including specific examples.]

Academic Tutors

Every student will be allocated an Academic Tutor – a member of academic staff in your School. Academic Tutors work in partnership with students and our wider support services to support your academic, personal and professional development.

For example, Academic Tutors help students to:

- make decisions in relation to their programme
- understand and use feedback they have received effectively
- reflect on their academic progress to date using tools such as the Student Progress Dashboard
- connect with other academics in their field of study
- make the most of the development opportunities on offer at Reading
- connect with other support services as appropriate.

You should meet with your Academic Tutor at least once a term to discuss your academic progress and development.

For further information about how to make the most of your Academic Tutor, including detailed term-by-term guides on what you could discuss at your Academic Tutor meetings, and other support services available at the University, please visit:

 Academic Tutors webpage.

Student Progress Dashboard

To help you to see, understand and improve your academic performance, the Student Progress Dashboard shows your current assessments and how they relate to your goals. The dashboard shows how much of your summative assessment (i.e. assessment that counts towards your degree) has been completed, what your profile of marks looks like visualised into a series of graphics and how this level of attainment compares to the goals that you have set for yourself. It is an important and powerful tool to help you take stock of how you are doing and to identify where you need to focus to improve. It forms the ideal basis for discussing how to improve with your Academic Tutor. More information, including how to access your personalised dashboard, can be found at:

Library

The Library supports your learning by providing access to print and digital resources (including e-journals, e-books, multimedia resources and databases), and search facilities to help you find books, journals and other materials for your studies. If you are new to Reading, take a look at our guide to getting started with the Library:

 Information for new students

As well as a wide range of print and digital resources, the Library offers expert support for your studies from our Academic Liaison Librarian, Study Advice, and Maths Support teams.

Academic Liaison Librarians

Your Academic Liaison Librarian is your main point of contact with the Library – there is one for every subject offered at Reading. They can help you make effective use of the huge range of resources the Library has to offer in support of your studies by:

- showing you how to use information resources effectively – Liaison Librarians create online Library guides for your subject and can provide group training sessions for your School/Department
- providing individual help with research – Liaison Librarians can offer in depth one to one help in finding information including: helping you to identify the most relevant print and e-resources to use; providing guidance on developing effective search strategies; and advising on referencing, including the use of bibliographic management software such as Endnote
- showing you how to save time by making the most of all Library services.

Find out who your Academic Liaison Librarian is here.

Study Advice

We are a professional and friendly team based within the Library on the Whiteknights campus. We work with students in all disciplines and at all levels of academic study, from undergraduate to PhD. We can help you to:

- develop more effective practices for studying at university
- have a clearer understanding of what tutors expect
- make studying less stressful
- achieve better marks.

With our expert guidance, you can develop your skills for study success and help yourself to a better degree! You can find resources, details of our workshops and information on booking a 1-2-1 here.

Maths Support

The Maths Support Team is available to help students on all programmes with any mathematical topic needed for your studies, such as: basic arithmetic, percentages, formulae, logarithms, differentiation, integration, etc. We also provide support on using statistics, such as: data handling, presenting results, and explaining statistical findings using SPSS, Mini-Tab and Excel.

We offer regular workshops throughout the year on a range of topics and we have an extensive list of worksheets, guides and links to video tutorials which you can access at any time to practise and develop your skills.

Our experienced team can help you one-to-one with any queries you may have relating to maths and statistics, and will help you build your confidence in a relaxed and friendly environment.

For more details on our service, opening hours and links to useful learning resources, see our website.

Additional support for Library users

The University's Policy on Inclusive Practice in Teaching and Learning was launched in January 2018 to provide greater clarity and emphasis to our commitment to an inclusive approach to teaching and learning.

The Library has an excellent guide to finding and using inclusive technology in your learning, as well as guides providing information on how the Library can support your studies including studying with dyslexia and other specific learning difficulties and help for users with disabilities.

As a student of the University, you are also entitled to install and use Microsoft Office 365 for free on your own computer, tablet or phone. Office 365 includes many accessibility features – see Microsoft's an inclusive Office 365 for further details. The University's IT department has information about accessing and installing Office 365.

Digital Technology Services

The University provides a wide range of IT facilities. More details about these and the support available can be found in the Student DTS Guide.

*Dissertation/project advice

[Schools should include relevant information on dissertations and projects including expectations about standards, when topics should be chosen, etc.]

*Research training

[For postgraduate taught programmes only, information on the research training that the programme provides for future higher degree programmes.]

Support Centres

Support Centres/the Henley Helpdesk are your first port of call for anything ranging from a query about Campus Cards, advice on changing programme or on module selection, submitting exceptional circumstances forms and queries about assessment, to any other general or programme-specific question. For full information regarding how and when you can access the service and who does what, please visit the Advice and Support webpages.

Where do I go for other help/advice?

Student welfare support and guidance is provided by the Support Centres, alongside our range of specialist support services including Student Welfare Officers, the Students' Union Advice Team, the Medical Practice, Counselling and Wellbeing and the Disability Advisory Service. Student Services also offer advice and support in a number of areas, including finance and academic issues such as withdrawals and suspensions.

 Guidance and Support

Student Welfare Team

The Student Welfare Team is here to help you with any personal difficulties you may experience during your time at the University. The team is made up of professional welfare staff who are able to advise you on a wide range of personal and welfare issues that may impact your studies and day-to-day life. For further information:

 Student Welfare Team

Disability Advisory Service

The University of Reading welcomes disabled students and has a dedicated Disability Advisory Service. The service offers advice and guidance to students with any disability, long term medical condition, mental health condition, or specific learning difficulty (SpLD).

If you have not yet told the University about your disability or your learning difficulty, or have not disclosed it on your application, you can discuss the implications of a disclosure in complete confidence with one of our Disability Advisers.

The team can offer advice on applying for a Disabled Students' Allowance (DSA) and, with your permission, liaise with your Department, the Examinations Office and Support Centre to agree reasonable adjustments. They can also help you in setting up your DSA support.

More information on the wide range of disability support offered to assist you through your studies can be found here.

Counselling and Wellbeing

The Counselling and Wellbeing team work throughout the year to help students manage a wide range of issues, working to minimise the impact of any problems on their academic progress.

All staff who work in the service are very experienced and are used to working with students studying at all levels, and from all nationalities and cultures. They know and understand the problems that students face and are able to provide valuable and independent support.

 Counselling and Wellbeing

Student Services Reception/Online services

The Student Services Reception provides advice about a range of topics including enrolment, Council Tax certificates, Railcard and Oyster applications and verifications of academic progress, and signposting to services such as Immigration, Careers and Disability.

Finance

The Student Financial Support Team are here to offer help, advice and support on a wide range of financial issues, including:

- advice in relation to tuition fees; in particular, specialist advice on funding via the Student Finance Authorities (i.e. Student Finance)
- bursaries
- short-term loans
- Student Support Fund
- information about Blackbullion, which offers free online financial support for University of Reading students
- liaison between you (the student) and Student Credit Control in times where you are struggling to meet the cost of your tuition fees and/or accommodation cost
- work with the RUSU Money Advisors to support you in matters relating to financial difficulties.

 Student Financial Support Team

International students

The International Student Advisory Team offers information and advice for all international and EU students, providing professional and confidential support on:

- settling into the UK when you arrive (and your family if applicable)
- understanding the UK culture and providing information about the local area and places of interest

- general advice and guidance on how to make the most of your time at Reading and in the UK
- visa and immigration advice.

Throughout the year, the International Student Advisory Team runs a variety of events, open to all students. Check the website and follow them on social media to keep up to date with news and upcoming events.

 Information for International Students

Chaplaincy

The Chaplaincy Team operate from two bases on the Whiteknights Campus: the Chaplaincy Centre and the Muslim Centre. The Chaplaincy Centre is open for drop-in visits from Monday-Thursday and provides a good place to go for a quiet coffee and a listening ear.

Chaplains can sign-post for faith and well-being needs, whatever your religious beliefs. Feel free to call, email or just drop in to see them. Find out about pastoral support to students of any (or no) faith, as well as the events we run here.

Reading University Students Union (RUSU)

RUSU is a student-led independent charity, based on Whiteknights campus, that exists to represent, support and provide opportunities for all students studying at the University of Reading. As a student, you are automatically a member of the Students' Union.

Our ultimate ambition is to support students and enhance their University experience, delivering services to students in an accountable, inclusive, honest and forward-thinking way. As RUSU is a separate organisation to the University of Reading, one of our top priorities is to ensure that the student is always put first. More information can be found on the RUSU website.

RUSU Advice

The Advice Service is an impartial team of trained and experienced advisers empowering students to take control of their circumstances for positive change. The service is free, non-judgemental and confidential, and aims to provide you with the information you need to make informed choices when it comes to any academic, housing and money issues you might be experiencing. Whilst the Advice Service is based in the RUSU building, they also operate digitally. There is information to help you on the Advice Services webpage, including details of how to contact us if you need support.

RUSU Nursery Service

RUSU's purpose-built nursery offers places to children between three months and five years who have a parent either studying or working at the University. There are five child-centred rooms and an exciting outdoor play area. You can find more information and how to apply by visiting RUSU Nursery.

G Performance and assessment

Academic engagement

You are academically engaged if you comply with the academic requirements stated in the University's Statement of learner responsibilities, in particular those requirements relating to engagement with the academic tutoring system, attendance and participation in academic classes and submission of coursework. Further guidance on the policies and processes in place to support you to meet your academic requirements can be found on the Centre for Quality Support and Development website:

Working with academic integrity

Academic integrity

'Academic integrity' describes the values held to be essential in university study in the UK. The five core values we work to are:

- Accuracy – making sure that your work is free from errors.
- Honesty – being truthful about which ideas are your own and which are derived from others, and about the methods and results of your research.
- Fairness – not trying to gain an advantage by unfair means: for instance, by passing off others' work as your own.
- Responsibility – taking an active role in your own learning: for instance, by seeking out the information you need to study effectively.
- Respect – for your fellow students, your tutors, and the work of other scholars.

(Adapted from International Center for Academic Integrity (1999), The Fundamental Values of Academic Integrity, online at Fundamental Values of Academic Integrity, accessed 17 May 2021.)

Avoiding unintentional plagiarism

Plagiarism is when someone else's work is passed off as your own. It may include:

- using someone else's words directly without accurately acknowledging their authorship (whether this is from a published source or another student)
- using ideas from someone else's work without accurately acknowledging their source
- colluding with another student to produce the same or similar work
- passing off someone else's original work (e.g. commissioned essay) as your own

Although you may be thinking that you would never be so dishonest, it is possible to commit plagiarism unintentionally. Unintentional plagiarism can happen if:

- you are not careful about recording details or note-making
- you do not learn how to cite references to comply with university standards
- you do not fully understand the role that references play in your academic writing

These errors also put you at risk of committing poor academic practice. This is the term used when you produce work which may be fully referenced, but (for instance) relies too heavily on only one or two sources, or is generally too derivative (includes too many words quoted from other people and not enough of your own analysis and exposition), or is inadequately paraphrased (too close to the original).

Both plagiarism and poor academic practice leave you liable to penalties which may be determined at a School or University level. These can range from a substantial reduction in your marks (or even a mark of zero) which can affect your final degree classification, to a formal misconduct hearing which may result in your being asked to leave the University.

Further advice on avoiding unintentional plagiarism, along with a guide to building references into your writing, can be found in the Academic Integrity Toolkit or by contacting the Study Advice Team.

Turnitin

You may have been told that your work will go through Turnitin when it is submitted, and wondered what Turnitin is. A common misconception you will hear is that Turnitin is a plagiarism checker. In fact, Turnitin is a tool which, if properly used and if your tutor enables it, can help you to work with academic integrity when you are referring to sources in your writing.

Turnitin is a program which checks your work for originality: that is, it searches through its database of published texts, webpages and student assignments to see if there are any areas which have a significant match to your work.

Turnitin is NOT a plagiarism detector. Your tutors will use Turnitin to alert them to possible problems, but they are also familiar with your writing and with the literature in your field, and they will use their experience and academic judgement to identify any issues with your use of references.

Further information on Turnitin can be found in the Academic Integrity Toolkit.

References and citations

You will need to learn the correct way to use references and citations whilst at the University of Reading.

It is your responsibility to check the referencing and citation conventions used on your programme.

Joint or group work

The University encourages you to learn from each other, so when working together it is important to work with academic integrity. In group work assessments it is likely you will be asked to submit a joint assignment that will be clearly acknowledged as being produced by the whole group. Part of the assessment will involve how you manage the group process and divide tasks between the group members. People do not need to do the same amounts of work, but the group does need to take collective responsibility for being honest, fair, and for showing respect to each member of the group.

Learning collaboratively and sharing ideas can be extremely effective. However, you need to be honest and fair. For individual assignments, such as essays or reports, whether undertaken as part of group work or otherwise, discussing the general topics together is fine, but the assignment itself should be planned and written up separately and individually. For mathematical and computing problems, or data analysis, discussing the best approach to the problem can lead to you selecting the same methods as your peers, and your work can naturally end up looking quite similar. However, you should complete the stages of the method and any working out yourself. It is not acceptable for one person to do the calculations and for the rest of the group to simply copy them.

If you are in any doubt about what is acceptable when working together, you should ask your lecturers. Further guidance on effective group work can be found in the LibGuides:

 Effective group work

Policy in relation to students' use of editorial and proof-reading services

Students who feel that they need assistance in writing appropriate English should, in the first instance, seek guidance from their School, which should discuss with the student their difficulties. Further guidance on the use of editorial and proof-reading services can be found on Essentials:

 Information on the use of editorial and proof-reading services

Academic misconduct

The University takes academic misconduct seriously and it is your responsibility to make yourself aware of, and comply with, the contents of the policy below.

 Policy on Academic Integrity and Academic Misconduct

Coursework & examinations

Coursework

Information on any module coursework assignments you need to complete, along with submission dates and method can be found on the module's Blackboard/Canvas course.

It is your responsibility to make yourself aware of all your assignment deadlines and to ensure you understand how to submit each piece of work.

It is important you familiarise yourself with the following policies and how they relate to coursework.

Feedback to students

The University seeks to provide feedback which can be used positively to affect your future performance. It is therefore important that you consider your feedback in detail and take the opportunity to discuss it if you have any queries.

Students should be aware that marks and grades given to them during any part of a degree programme are subject to moderation by internal and external examiners, who may recommend changes either to the marks of a particular student or to those of a whole group. Marks remain provisional until they have been scrutinised and approved by the appropriate Examiners' Meeting and formally published by the University. Provisional marks are provided for guidance only and you should be mindful that they may change before the formal publication of results.

For all undergraduate and taught postgraduate programmes, the standard turnaround time for individual feedback and marks on coursework and in-class tests is a maximum of fifteen working days from the deadline for submission/date of the in-class test. The policy applies equally to work from full-time and part-time students.

For the purposes of this policy, a working day is defined as excluding Saturday and Sunday. This definition applies to all students, regardless of location. Public/national holidays in the country where the relevant module is being delivered and University closure days are not normally considered to be working days. When setting deadlines for submission of coursework, module convenors should take into consideration public/national holidays in the country or countries where staff who will be responsible for marking and provision of feedback are located. For UK campuses, the University is normally closed on the eight Public Holidays for England and Wales (New Year's Day, Good Friday, Easter Monday, May Bank Holiday, Spring Bank Holiday, Summer Bank Holiday, Christmas Day and Boxing Day). It is also normally closed for a small number of additional days during the year, referred to as 'closure days', usually around the Christmas and Easter public holidays. See Term Dates for further details.

Some assessments may be exempt from the fifteen working day turnaround time feedback requirement. The following assessments are exempt, subject to the proviso that work submitted in the summer term of the Final Part should be returned prior to graduation:

- i. dissertations;
- ii. final year projects (normally 40 credits in weight);
- iii. assessments where there is input from a professional external body that might unavoidably delay the marking process;
- iv. assessments where for logistical reasons there are staggered submission dates (e.g. practicals).

For more information see:

 Policy on providing feedback to students on their performance

Online assessment and feedback

Many of your assignments will be submitted and marked online through Blackboard. You will also receive your feedback online. Further information about submitting your work electronically and accessing your feedback and marks online can be found here:

H Working together - how is my voice heard?

Student-Staff Partnership Groups/Student Reps

We have a well-established framework for student representation, which enables students to make a meaningful contribution to quality assurance and to enhancing teaching and learning and the student experience. It allows any student at the University to have a say and ensures your voices are heard to help create positive change.

Every School operates at least one Student-Staff Partnership Group (SSP Group). These are groups of students and staff that meet on a regular basis to discuss feedback from students on a particular programme or group of programmes. SSP Groups work to identify good practice (what is working well), explore issues and concerns raised by students, and bring about workable solutions. They provide an opportunity for students to work collaboratively with staff to consider the student learning experience and to drive meaningful change within and, where appropriate, beyond the subject area.

The University works in partnership with Reading University Students' Union \(RUSU\), who coordinate the student representation framework and provide support and training to student representatives. Course Reps are elected students who represent you and your views about your university experience. They are members of SSP Groups and may also be members of the programme's Board of Studies and Student Experience. Senior Reps work together to lead a team of Course Reps within each school. They gather and relay student feedback at a school level.

 Student Representation policy

Module & programme evaluation

The University actively encourages students to provide feedback on their degree programme and their experiences at Reading, through formal evaluation processes such as module and programme evaluation.

 Policy on Student Evaluation of Teaching & Learning

Have your say – student surveys

We are committed to working in partnership with you to ensure you have everything you need to succeed during your time studying at Reading. That's why we take student surveys, such as the National Student Survey (NSS) and the Postgraduate Taught Experience Survey (PTES), so seriously. Your feedback helps us to better understand what's working well and where we need to improve. Our Vice-Chancellor, Professor Robert Van de Noort, and Heads of School read your comments to directly inform where we invest our resources to benefit future students.

All undergraduate final year students will be invited to complete the NSS between January and April, with alternative surveys shared with undergraduate non-finalists and postgraduate taught students. Thank you in advance for taking the time to share your thoughts.

Beyond my studies

RUSU

RUSU is led by five Full-time Officers who are elected to their roles by the student body. The Full-time Officers run for election while studying, then take a sabbatical year from study or start after their graduation. The Student Officers listen to the views of the thousands of students on campus; they represent the student voice on campus, locally and nationally. They're accountable to all students.

Student Officers

Your elected full-time Student Officers are:

Diversity Officer – Soundarya Dundi, Welfare Officer – Grace Loweth, President – Ben Knowles, Education Officer – Bethany Nugus, Activities Officer – Amy Sheffield. Visit the RUSU Officers webpage to find out more about your Officers and how to contact them.

As well as Full-time Officers, there is an elected team of 11 Part-time Officers. The Part-time Officers represent and liberate the rights of under-represented and minority groups.
