Programme information and content

The Programme aims provide you with subject-specific knowledge, including knowledge of a variety of different kinds of Spanish and English literary, cultural and historical texts from a range of periods, together with perspectives on different methods of critical analysis, the ability to understand native-spoken Spanish within an educated Spanish environment and to communicate orally with fluency and accuracy, to read with understanding and critical judgement and to write accurately in Spanish with an appropriate understanding of register and style. More generally, the course also aims to foster an independent approach to formulating problems and arguments, using the close reading and analytical skills that are fundamental to both disciplines. Throughout the programme, individual modules come with the option of an academic placement which complements and develops the learning on a module.

Part 1:	Introduces you to debate about approaches to the study of literature, through critical and research exercises and close study of selected English and Spanish texts from a number of different periods and develops your practical language skills in your core language module in all four areas (speaking, writing, reading, listening). You will also have the opportunity to understand and apply key terms in the structural analysis of language.
Part 2:	Provides you with greater breadth of coverage, and studies texts within historical periods and generic traditions. It further develops your practical language skills in your core language module, building on the work done in Part 1 and provides the opportunity to encounter and critically engage with a range of texts in Spanish.
Placement/Study abroad year:	An integral part of this degree is the opportunity for you to spend up to a year abroad, studying at a partner institution through the Erasmus+ programme, or undertaking a work placement. You will further develop your adaptability and self-reliance as well as your sensitivity to cultural difference.
Part 3:	Gives you the opportunity to undertake more specialized and independent literary study, choosing your modules from a wide range of options. The dissertation module develops your skills in research, planning and writing. Part 3 also builds on your existing Spanish language skills, refining your use of more complicated structures as well as variation in register and style.

For textbooks and similar resources:

In English Literature: we recommend that you budget between £150 to £250 a year.

In Spanish: we recommend that you budget between £50 to £75 a year. The core textbook(s), which most students normally purchase, cost(s) £25 new, and there may be other books/resources which you would find it convenient to buy.

Some books may be available second-hand, which will reduce costs. A range of resources to support your curriculum, including textbooks and electronic resources, are available through the library. Reading lists and module specific costs are listed on the individual module descriptions.

Printing and photocopying facilities are available on campus at a cost of £0.05 per page.

For students studying on a year abroad, a discounted fee of 15% of the normal Tuition Fee is payable to the University for the year abroad, as detailed in the Fees Policy. No Tuition Fee is paid to the host institution abroad for which there is a valid exchange agreement in place.

Year Abroad: You may incur additional costs, in addition to those which you would normally expect to pay at the University, during your year abroad, in accordance with clause 6.4 of the Terms and Conditions for Undergraduate Students. These additional costs will depend on your host institution and destination, but may include the purchase of a visa and mandatory medical insurance. Students will be briefed on these issues prior to them submitting the form detailing the institutions to which they would like to be allocated, and general information on additional costs is discussed in the Year Abroad preparatory meetings. Further indicative details on costs and funding are available on the UoR Erasmus & Study Abroad webpages and the webpages of the host institution.

Costs are indicative and may vary according to optional modules chosen and are subject to inflation and other price fluctuations.

The estimates were calculated in 2016.

Placement opportunities

You may be provided with the opportunity to undertake a credit-bearing placement as part of your Programme. This will form all or part of an optional module. You will be required to find and secure a placement opportunity, with the support of the University.

Teaching and learning delivery:

You will be taught through a combination of lectures, seminar discussion and essay tutorials. Spanish language modules are taught in small groups, and include use of language laboratory resources. The Dissertation module is supported by workshops and individual supervision.

Students either study at a university with which the University of Reading has an agreement under the Lifelong Learning Programme (LLP) and Erasmus University Charter or go on a placement which may be either a teaching placement or a work placement. Full details of potential destinations can be found on both the departmental and the Erasmus & Study Abroad websites.

Total study hours for each Part of your programme will be 1200 hours. The contact hours for your programme will depend upon your module combination; an average for a typical set of modules on this programme is Part 1 - 300 hours, Part 2 - 192 hours, Part 3 - 204 hours. In addition to your scheduled contact hours, you will be expected to undertake
