2. Legal background
The Race Relations Act 1976 has been amended by the Race Relations (Amendment) Act 2000 (RRAA) which introduces a new positive duty on public sector organisations. This legislative change was in response to the Stephen Lawrence Inquiry Report (The Macpherson Report) and requires all public institutions (including FE and HE institutions) to take action to promote race equality.

Therefore, the University aims to meet the general duties of the RRAA (2000) by having a due regard to the need to:

(a) Eliminate unlawful racial discrimination;
(b) Promote equality of opportunity and good relations between persons of different racial groups.

The University aims to meet the specific duties of the Race Relations (Amendment) Act (2000) by complying with the following requirements:

3(1) ...before 31st May 2002:
(a) Prepare a written statement of its policy for promoting race equality;
(b) Have in place arrangements for fulfilling, as soon as is reasonably practicable, its duties under paragraph ... (4)

3(2) The University shall:
(a) Maintain a copy of the statement;
(b) Fulfil those duties in accordance with such arrangements.

(4) It shall be the duty of the University to:
(a) Assess the impact of its policies, including its race equality policy, on students and staff of different racial groups;
(b) Monitor, by reference to those racial groups, the admission and progress of students and the recruitment and career progress of staff;
(c) Include in its written statement of its race equality policy an indication of its arrangements for publishing that statement and the results of its assessment and monitoring.

(5) The University shall take such steps as are reasonably practicable to publish annually the results of its monitoring.
The University will draw up a supporting Action Plan to help it to achieve these general and specific duties.

The content and effectiveness of the Race Equality Policy and Action Plan will be reviewed annually in consultation with the Equal Opportunities Advisory Group, Trade Unions, Students’ Union, local community and other stakeholders as appropriate.
