

GLOBAL LAW AT READING (GLAR)

THE GHANDHI RESEARCH SEMINAR SERIES 2015-2016

GLAR is the home of public international law, EU law and human rights law at the University of Reading. The Gandhi Research Seminar Series showcases the work of experts in these fields. The series is convened by Professor James A. Green. It is named in honour of Professor Sandy Gandhi, who taught at the School of Law from 1978 to 2013.

Anyone is welcome to attend these seminars, and attendance is free. However, visitors coming from outside the University of Reading are asked to please send advance notification that they will be attending: globallaw@reading.ac.uk

All seminars will take place from 13:00-14:00, in Foxhill House room G.04, School of Law, University of Reading.

- | | |
|------------------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| 7 October 2015 | Professor Antonios Tzanakopoulos (University of Oxford)
The International Court of Justice and the Concept of Aggression |
| 18 November 2015 | Kanbar Hossein Bor (UK Foreign and Commonwealth Office)
International Law and Policy – Case Study: Time for Hybrid Jurisdiction in the Rome Statute? |
| 20 January 2016 | Dr Amos O. Enabulele (University of Benin / visiting scholar, University of Reading)
Universal Jurisdiction, Non-Retroactivity of Criminal Law and the Implications of Hissène Habré v Senegal for ECOWAS States |
| 24 February 2016 | Professor Mary Footer (The University of Nottingham)
Business, Trade and Human Rights in Mega-Regional Arrangements: A Relationship to Discover |
| 2 March 2016 | Dr Matt Garrod (University of Portsmouth)
Navigating the Debate on Universal Criminal Jurisdiction at the Sixth Committee: The Need for an Empirical Assessment |
| 20 April 2016 | Dr Graham Melling (University of Lincoln)
The Responsibility to Protect: An Idea Whose Time has Come... and Gone? |